Safety, Vandalism Concerns Prompt No Parking Zones

SAN BERNARDINO – Business owners' concerns about vandalism and safety prompted the Board of Supervisors to institute two no-parking zones in Fontana on Tuesday.

Business owners contacted the County Department of Public Works and requested no-parking zones on portions of Whittram Avenue and Arrow Route. The owners reported that parked vehicles provide vandals with cover and also block the view of motorists exiting business driveways.

"Residents and business owners are often the best source for information about issues on County roads because they witness what's taking place in their community," said Chairman Paul Biane, who represents Fontana as the County's Second District Supervisor.

After investigating business owners' concerns, the Department of Public Works recommended a non-parking zone on both sides of Whittram Avenue near Hemlock Avenue and a no-parking zone for commercial vehicles on the south side of Arrow Route near Redwood Avenue.

Parking violations in the unincorporated Fontana community should be reported to the California Highway Patrol at (909) 980-3994.
